

"We have made a covenant with death, and with hell we are in agreement...."

(Isaiah 28:15)

WATCHING THE TRAIN WRECK

THERE THEY GO AGAIN

Watching the American political process is like living a nightmare ... a nightmare from which we cannot wake up. It is like a train wreck that just keeps going on and on.

Wrecks generally occur and then end. But as we watch this continuing wreck it just won't stop. It has been going on so long now that the train passengers seem to have forgotten what life was like before the wreck began. In fact, their everyday perception of normality is that of a train wreck.

The "train wreck" has thus become "life as usual." The American people no longer know what normal life is like.

Watching the election pageantries in this country is depressing ... it is a repeating reminder of the state of mind of the average American. We who would like Americans to see and experience the goodness of God's blessings find it very depressing to watch the elections.

Elections always reveal two things: 1. The flagrant power of the 2% elite (billionaires) who control America, and 2. The ignorance of Americans in general. The ultimate conquest of a people is when they are persuaded to willingly participate in their own capture and enslavement.

A QUESTION FOR THOSE WHO VOTE

How can you vote away God's law? If our condoning of the Beast System is the problem, how can you cure the problem by promoting participation in it?

Lately, some people (who otherwise seem sensible) are participating in the political process by promoting Ron Paul – a Republican candidate for president. I have observed this phenomenon with disappointment. Good folks who should know better seem unable to resist the programmed response implanted in their brains. They are helpless to resist the hypnotic control exerted upon them every time elections come around. Their triggers get pushed, and they respond as per their conditioning.

Their man this time is Ron Paul: a 30-year career politician. He is a member – an official – in the Beast System. The Constitution (not Christ) is his answer for everything. He worships the Beast System and recruits silly people to join his idolatry. He defends the official government version of 9/11. He believes in usury banking, Big Medicine, and man's law. Yet, there has been a ground swell of "Christian conservatives" supporting him.

What makes them think he is anything other than a pawn of the Beast System? He may not be as offensive as the other candidates, but nonetheless he is one of them.

Someday I would like see such a movement, such energy, in support of the Kingdom of Christ. That will be the day! But, Americans clearly do not like any movement that supports the Reign of Christ.

The American people have once again been whipped up into excitement over the three candidates that the criminal system has pushed to the top: McCain, Clinton, and Obama. These candidates, then, reflect the spirits and hearts of Americans in general ... and that's not good.

McCain (the programmed Manchurian candidate), Hillary (the consummate criminal insider and Waco co-murderer), and Obama (the ambitious insider wannabe) are the best the American system can hold up. This should horrify us! It should make us shrink in shame. But instead, Americans revel in the process ... giddy at the prospect of spending billions of dollars to fund the election spectacles and wave the flags and banners for their chosen criminal politicians.

Yuck! Pardon me while my stomach churns.

Let me remind you that when you participate in the voting, and in the Beast process, you are agreeing to the "citizen contract." By registering and voting you are relinquishing your right to reject the outcome. You are making a "covenant with death" (Is. 28:15). When you accept the terms, be warned that, "your agreement with hell shall not stand; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, then you shall be trodden down by it!" (vs. 18)

Read it and weep! Recruiting you is the Beast System's way of conquering you! Study the history of the Roman Empire. It conquered people, made them "citizens," and thus owned them. That, today, is called "Democracy."

WHEN WILL IT BE ENOUGH?

When will Americans say "enough"? When will they decide to get off the train wreck? When will they wake up and stop defending train wrecks? When will American ethics and conscience rise out of the sewer to actually condemn the criminal activity of government? When will Americans balk at being partners with murderers, whoremongers, torturers, terrorists, thieves, liars and wreckers (ie., politicians)? When will Americans get their fill of compromise and corruption and say "enough is enough"?

MORE VIEWPOINTS

The following pages contain excerpts from three articles that recently came to my attention.

I don't know the authors but their comments are too good to pass over.

---

Crossing The Rubicon: Breaking The Fake News Trance

The phrase 'Crossing the Rubicon' is a metaphor for proceeding past a point of no return. It originates from 49 BC when Julius Caesar directed his legions south across the river Rubicon (a traditional barrier between the Roman province of 'Cisalpine Gaul' and Italy proper) towards ancient Rome in defiance of the Roman Senate. Upon crossing the river, Caesar is reported to have shouted "Alea iacta est" ... the die is cast!

In terms of the awakening process, crossing the Rubicon is the key revelatory stage when you realize, beyond any doubt, that the government is NOT your friend. The stark recognition that you have been living in a false paradigm created by someone else begins to sink in. It is here, at this bleak philosophical crossroads, where most people experience such a disturbing degree of cognitive dissonance that they cave in and return to their former illusions. It is too much to process and the implications are too huge. So even knowing that there is a greater truth on the horizon, they choose instead to return to the Control System, back to the Matrix with all its securities and comfortable illusions.

It takes guts to admit that 9/11 was an inside job. Most Americans cannot do it ... in spite of the fact that no intelligent researcher who has taken the time to systematically analyze the events of 911 can come away thinking it was just another political and administrative foul up. No chance! 911 was a breathtakingly audacious mega ritual. And it worked. Professionally executed, meticulously planned and successful in achieving its objectives of broadcasting fear and rushing through totalitarian legislation (masquerading as The Patriot Act). The parallels that some researchers draw between the corrupt governments of the US/UK and the Nazis fit perfectly. Watch how they become even more closely aligned over the next few years.

Changing Beliefs, Raising Frequencies

Jump off the moving train. Take the spiritual path.

As I have said before, if human consciousness allows itself to be manipulated through fear-based and trauma-based systems (entrenched in our media, entertainment and news broadcasts) then the Control System can implant a reality of its own that keeps us self-limiting and passive. We become digital bits inside their digital control network.

Breaking the trance and rising above the cognitive dissonance is hard. But once through the other side, the profound insight and enhanced awareness are deeply liberating and a source of immense internal power. All the messed up, gloomy socio-political problems like immigration, crime, health, housing, war, economy, education – they all begin to come clear.

They aren't a mess because the government is inept, they are a mess by design ... to keep the wheels turning and the workers working. Keep em busy.

A life's work to own a house. A decent pension right at the end if you're lucky. Madness! Inhumanity!

Once you have the 'coordinates' (the keys that expose all their illusions), everything begins to slot into place. The mist of confusion evaporates. You can see. And the Control System coordinates become uncomplicated: 99% of the planet lives in a consumer plantation designed to provide physical and spiritual slave labor for the benefit of an elite few. A Control System (called "government") exists to maintain and protect the system.

9/11 Is The Litmus Test

There is one outstanding thing that defines everyone over the course of these early years of this new century. That one thing is the 9/11 attack. Everyone in government and every field of endeavor the world-over is being defined by their position on this event.

It is not necessary to know all the facts. It is only necessary to know the basic lies in order to define any leader in any position anywhere in the world. By what they have said and by what they have not said, one can accurately judge who is an enemy and who can be trusted. One can accurately determine who is a tool of the psychopaths or one of them ... by how he reacts to 9/11.

This works for self-evaluation as well. Think about what you allow yourself to know. Think about what you pass by, ignore, deny and defend. This defines you. It defines the degree of your personal courage, your relationship to the truth, your values, your principles and what you will pass on to your children and everyone you meet. It tells you, in that place where your conscience must once have lived, whether you are a hypocrite and a fool or whether something greater still lives within you.

Nineteen men pass through airport security. Eleven of them are stopped and questioned but then allowed to board. Several large passenger planes wind up hijacked and flown at high speed into enormous buildings. None of these men had the skills or capacity to accomplish this feat. These men were armed with box cutters. No jet fighters were scrambled to intercept these planes, although the authorities in charge of such actions knew immediately what was happening. Airport traffic controllers were ordered to destroy all recorded evidence of the event. Some of them physically broke the CD's and scattered the pieces into different trash containers at the airports.

Within hours, three of the biggest buildings in the city, buildings designed to absorb the impact of the very planes which hit them, all crumbled into their own footprints at the speed of freefall. It was said that the fire, which burned below the melting point of steel, caused this to happen. No fire in history had previously accomplished such a thing ... not once. Previous fires had burned hotter and longer, yet no building fell. Now, three have fallen in one day. Months later molten steel burned white hot underneath the rubble, and clean cuts in huge metal beams were photographed.

A passport from one of the hijackers appears on a city street undamaged. Cars are discovered at airports with flight training videos and Korans. Apparently the men who were deeply religious enough to give their lives to attack these buildings thought nothing of leaving their sacred texts behind. Some weeks later, seven of the alleged hijackers are found to be alive in their native countries.

Some days earlier some of these men were observed drinking and having lap dances in a Florida bar. This sort of behavior is not normal for such dedicated Muslim men. Around the same time, the ringleader of these men and some associates were observed by the FBI boarding a gambling boat belonging to Jack Abramoff. These men were tracked to Las Vegas and watched by the FBI, yet they passed through the airport security checkpoints. Even though eleven of them were stopped and questioned they still boarded.

On the day of the event several men were observed videotaping the attack as it happened. They were seen to be dancing and celebrating as well. The police stopped and arrested them. They were found to be Mossad agents. Some time later they were quietly released and returned to their home country with no reasons given.

Members of the Bin Laden family; the man accused of masterminding the attack, were immediately flown out of the country. Bin Laden denied any connection to this attack. Direct evidence of this exists and no evidence of his admitting his involvement exists.

As a result of this event, major wars have been launched. Over a million people have died with nearly another 5 million displaced. The wreckage of the WTC was gathered together and shipped overseas. No one was allowed to investigate it.

In every event... in New York City... in a Pennsylvania field... at The Pentagon... all of the evidence is contradictory. The amount of evidence on every level that directly refutes what we have been told fills thousands of pages. Meanwhile, the administration and the congress belligerently oppose any inquiry into the matter. People in government who have questioned the official story have been fired from their jobs or driven from office by the very party they are a member of. University professors are fired for discussing it. Independent investigators are ignored. Major web sites composed of experts in their fields, are ignored and censured.

Casual investigation of who benefited and who engineered actions of global impact based on official 9/11 findings ALL lead to the same parties.

Therefore... therefore... here is what you must know, given that the official story is patently absurd. Anyone... anyone who promotes the official story; who accepts the official story, who oppresses those who doubt the official story, who does not question the official story, is involved ... or too stupid to pat their head and chew gum at the same time. Any presidential candidate who does not dispute the official story is a traitor to their nation and a tool of those who accomplished the attack.

It all comes down to 9/11. Everything that has happened has happened based on a lie. Everyone in government; in the media, in entertainment, in organized religion, in the public eye and in the public who accepts and promotes the official story is either a traitor or a tool. Everyone who does not stand forth and speak truth to power is a coward, a liar and complicit in mass murder. Everyone- everywhere can be measured according to this litmus test.

I have included here only a small portion of the damning evidence that runs counter to the official lies. The preponderance of evidence that refutes the official lies is overwhelming.

Measure everyone by their position and their comments or lack of comments concerning this signal event.

The Banks Own Everything; the U.S. Citizenry Own Nothing

The lifestyle of the average American has increased exponentially over the past seventy years. Washing machines, automobiles, computers, internet, cell phones and the marvels of modern building techniques, modern medicine and science have all worked together to bring mankind to a level never before seen in the history of the world.

However, that elevated lifestyle was made possible through the mechanics of borrowed money.

Banks create money from nothing - some say "thin air" - and loan it to unwitting borrowers. There was never any money in their vaults to begin with. They merely enter the borrower's promissory note on their books as an "asset." They then loan out a ledger-entry as if it were money, to be "paid back" with interest in the future ... paid back with more borrowed money; functionally the same way a person pays one credit card with another.

Americans have borrowed trillions of dollars into existence and built the most technologically superior civilization on the face of the earth. Conversely, they have also regressed to the most indebted civilization on earth since all those trillions are owed back to the banks.

Under our current monetary system, all old loans are paid with new loans. Banks create only the principle to be loaned into existence. They never create the interest, so there is never enough money created to pay the interest. The interest cannot be paid except with more borrowed money. If interest were paid out of money already in existence, it would quickly deplete the money supply. Therefore, today's growing debt loads carry over to subsequent generations of Americans who will inherit the burden of the banks' ever-increasing compounding interest.

Again, like paying one credit card, and its interest, with another credit card.

Every road that has ever been built, school house constructed, home, business or church established came into being through currency that was created by a loan from a bank. While the loans for those things may have been discharged and are no longer due, they were discharged with more borrowed money so the debts keep piling up.

Even if a building was built using "cash," as in Federal Reserve Notes, those notes represent bits and pieces of hundreds, if not thousands, of other people's borrowed debts. All of those Federal Reserve Notes represent ledger-entry money that was merely entered on a book (nowadays a computer, in digital money form) backed by someone's promise to pay it back by using money that has been borrowed into existence by someone else. The loans can never fully be extinguished, but are merely "discharged" - or rolled over onto the back of another group of borrowers.

This is the banking system of the Great American Experiment. The New World Order's way of getting and keeping control of everything and everybody. Not one in a thousand Americans have a clue as to how it works. When they read this article, or one like it, the whole thing goes right past them ... because they are not interested. They have sold their souls for a scam: an illusion of security which is actually slavery.

(ED: All the current advancements in American lifestyle were accomplished using this system of unpayable debt. To what then can we attribute the advancement? Was it debt that facilitated it? Or was it something else?)

What was it that empowered Americans to produce and develop over these last two centuries? Was it the "borrowed money" that doesn't really exist except in our minds and the banks' computers? How could we be where we are today, in terms of technological and lifestyle accomplishments, if all we had to work with was fiat debt? Can a system of deceit, theft and usury produce good things? Can a bad tree produce good fruit?

Granted, the question of who actually owns it all is basic. However, logic demands consistency regarding the principle that debt equals slavery (Prov. 22:7), and slaves (debtors) do not produce as much as free people.

The key to understanding how we produced as much as we have, in spite of the debt/usury system that is against us, is the element of FAITH. We did it by faith!

Faith empowered us to produce. The power of faith is great ... even when it is faith in lies: misplaced faith ... but faith nonetheless. Faith gives us the courage, imagination and mental license to go forward. Even misplaced faith can empower our minds to function as if we were free ... even though we are not. This is the power of faith.

Thus, the money system that we lived under all our lives is nothing but a confidence racket. It functions, not on substance, but on faith (blind faith in lies)! It functions on our belief that US currency will continue to be viable tomorrow and the day after ... even though it is worthless.

Basically, we have been paying the government to license us with FED notes. These notes license us to work, produce and trade. This idiocy is a curse upon our people for choosing idolatry. The FED sells us licenses (notes) that permit us to work and produce. It is ALL IN OUR MINDS! The FED, by government authority, licenses us to work and produce. These licenses are nothing but pieces of manufactured paper faith - faith in the Beast System.

Our individual abilities to produce and trade are constrained by one thing ... FAITH (or the lack of it). Government has authorized the FED to loan us that faith, at interest. They make billions off our stupidity. Those billions represent pieces of our lives that Americans are carelessly tossing into the black hole of Babylonian politics. Our labors and products could have been used instead to benefit our families and our futures. But Americans are too stupid to realize this ... so they keep wasting their lives and their children's futures by believing in politicians who sell them licenses (called "money").

We've produced and achieved a lot in spite of a system of lies and oppression. Doesn't it make you wonder what we might have produced if we hadn't thrown our labors and resources down the rat hole of government? What could we have accomplished if we had, instead, believed in God's system of freedom and honesty? What if we had supported and believed in a system that wasn't designed to terrorize, steal, murder, torture, and deceive?

Our ability to produce and advance still survives today in spite of the tremendous albatross of the criminal class that we carry on our backs. But just think what we might have accomplished if we weren't giving our first and best to the black hole of criminal government!

Are you willing to change your paradigm of faith? Open your eyes. You'll be surprised to see reality! God's creation is wonderful and beautiful. But you haven't been seeing it ... because your vision has been blocked by man-made walls of deceit ... and your belief in the Babylonian facade.)

NEW BOOK

Moses The Economist, by C.F. Parker, has been out of print for some time. After years of looking for a distributor where I could buy copies, I have given up and decided to reprint it myself.

Moses The Economist is the best book I have found to explain the simple principles of Bible economics for a nation. Many books have been published about the problems of the Babylonian money system, but this one is the only one I know that explains how God instructed Moses to design a national economy.

This is the only book I know that explains it simply and according to God's Word. Seeing the right way to conduct a national system will help open your eyes to understand why American politics cannot possibly be fixed. The only answer is to abandon the failed paradigm and begin seeing things from God's perspective.

I am making it available now. Send $10 and ask for MOSES THE ECONOMIST.

Pray for eyes to see!

Ben Williams